MINERS QUIT WORK BY THE THOUSANDS

MEN IGNORE INJUNCTION

Only Apparent Effect Of Sweeping Court Order Is To Silence Union Headquarters

MINES ARE DESERTED

Approximately 80,000 Employes Idle In Illinois; Pennsylvania Also Affected

Washington, Oct. 31.—The big news in the coal strike situation today was the federal court's order forbidding the walkout. It was followed by a long line of developments and opened the door to wide possibilities.

The principal leaders in the miners' union met the court's action with denunciation as a "violation of constitutional rights," declaration that it came too late to reach their men with a countermanding order, and with predictions that it would be disregarded anyway.

During the night, mixed reports were coming in from the mining states of men who decided to remain at work and others went on strike despite the court's restraining order. It is not possible to estimate what proportion of the 425,000 miners affected remained at work and what proportion walked out. The real test may not come until Monday. Saturday generally is a "dead" day in the mines.

Protests to Palmer.

Meanwhile, organized labor leaders showed signs of taking up the cudgel on a general issue over the right to strike

President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, with Vice President Woll and Secretary Morrison protested as a delegation to Attorney General Palmer against the government's action in issuing the injunction and predicted that it could only result in creating new and more disturbing issues which may not be confined solely to the miners."

Heads of the great railway brotherhoods also conferred with the attorney general but disclaimed that they did more than offer their services to intervene

Attorney General Palmer emphasized to the labor leaders that the government's restraining order was in no wise an infringement of the working man's right to strike, but that it was a lawful process against a calamity to the country. He pointed out that the injunction had been issued for the government acting for all the people and not for the employers acting in conflict with their employes.

The attorney general declined to predict what would be done if the miners failed to heed the federal court's order, pointed out that the court itself initiates means to deal with those who disregard its mandates. All day long the government continued steadily taking measures to deal with the practical as well as the legal phase of the crisis.

Maximum Coal Prices Fixed.

President Wilson by executive order fixed maximum prices of soft coal. Fuel Administrator Garfield restored the war order which will give the railroad administration the power to seize coal in transit and divert it to consumption in conformance with a preference list arranged with the idea of doing the greatest good for the greatest number.

The machinery of the railroad administration, through which the acts of the fuel administration will be carried out, was put ready for functioning

United States troops began arriving in some mining district ready to take part in keeping order and protecting those miners who wished to continue at work. The extent and full nature of the troop movement were not disclosed but it was apparent that the war department was acting on a carefully-worked out plan to be ready if the local or state authorities reinforced by federal deputy marshals, were unequal to the situation.

Injunction Silences Strike Headquarters

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31. — The strike of bituminous miners went into effect tonight with the national headquarters here of the United Mine Workers of America silenced by a restraining order issued today by Judge A. B. Anderson of the federal district court. No "last word" or other message to the members of the union could be issued by the executive board of officers of the organization, and they only smiled grimly when this fact was brought to their attention.

While the strike order was effective at midnight, most of the men who [illegible] it quit work with the ending of the day shift. It was stated several days ago at union headquarters that midnight of Oct. 31 was selected for the official hour merely because it marked the beginning of Nov. 1, on which date the Cleveland convention of the union had decreed that the war-time wage agreement of the miners should terminate. At that time also it was pointed out that comparatively few mines have been running night shifts.

Serve Notice of Order.

Deputies of Mark Storen, United States marshal of Indiana, were busy all afternoon serving notice of the restraining order on union officials who had been missed in the general roundup at noon, when the meeting of the union's executive board was invaded by the process servers. Eighteen of the union leaders were served. The visits made effective the order which C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, had presented to the federal court and which restrained the defendants from issuing any messages, oral or written; that the strike is to be enforced as previously announced, from issuing any further strike orders or messages of encouragement or exhortation, and from distributing any strike benefits.

The order was made so sweeping that Judge Ames explained after its issuance that it would prevent any of the men named in the bill from addressing mass meetings.

The petition by the government, upon which the order was based, charged that the union men were conspiring to limit the facilities for the production of coal and to restrict the supply and distribution of the fuel. The writ accordingly commanded them to refrain from continuing the alleged conspiracy.

"I explained the necessity for the action," Mr. Palmer said, "and that the manner in which this case must be dealt with differentiates on its facts from all other cases in which injunctions have been used. I have been opposed and the administration has been opposed to government by injunction whereby employers might use the processes of the court on an ex parte hearing to force their employes into submission.

"This is the government itself, using its own courts to protect itself from paralysis. It is not an injunction obtained by employers, nor for the benefit of employers, not to settle the controversy, but to save the people of the entire country from disaster. It does not affect the right of a man to work when he pleases."

In connection Mr. Palmer explained that the petition for injunction was prepared by the government seeks to restrain the officers of the United Mine Workers from doing anything in furtherance of the strike order.

"If the injunction is obeyed," Mr. Palmer said, "and it goes without saying that the law must be obeyed, it will take away the direction of the strike from above and leave to the men perfect freedom to work or not as they see fit. No strike can go on without direction."

If the injunction is disobeyed the court can act on its own initiative to punish the violators or on application of the government. Mr. Palmer declared the next step depended on what happened.

Thousands of Miners Obey The Strike Call

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—Approximately 80,000 soft coal mines in Illinois had obeyed the strike order of their officials by 5 o'clock this afternoon, according to announcements at state miners' headquarters.

The strikers were encouraged in circulars prepared tonight by Frank Farrington, district miners' president, to pay no attention to threats that troops would be used.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31.—Union miners in Central and Western Pennsylvania late this afternoon and tonight picked up their tools and left the bituminous coal mines in aswer to the strike call of the United Mine of Workers of America, according to reports received by their leaders here.

The only men left in the mines it was asserted, were those who under the working agreement, were to look after valuable machinery and keep the pumps going in order that the pits be kept free of water.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Approximately 40,000 soft coal miners in Ohio will go out on strike tomorrow despite many rumos to the contrary and despite the injunction issued against the miners at Indianapolis today by Federal Judge John Anderson, according to President Moore, of the United Mine Workers of America.

Huntington, Va., Oct. 31. — Four hundred soldiers arrived here from Camp Taylor, Kentucky, at 6 p. m. for strike duty in the West Virginia coal fields. The men were not permitted to leave the cars and it was said that their disposition would not be known until the remainder of the battalion now on its way was here.

The second troop train and a supply train arrived here at 7:25 o'clock. Major Charles L. Coulter, infelligence officer, said the troops would remain in Huntington pending further orders from Major General Leonard Wood, commanding the central department of the army. The men, it was stated, would remain in the cars until such orders had been received.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 31. — Although the strike of bituminous mine workers in Utah was "called off" today by John M. McLennan, Utah state representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, advices reaching here tonight were to the effect that miners in Carbon county, where most of Utah's coal is mined, were quitting work when the shift changes occurred.

DYNAMITER SENTENCED.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct 31 — Werner Horn, the German reservist who attempted to destroy the St. Croix bridge by dynamiting it February 2, 1915, was sentenced today to 10 years in the penitentiary.

Outline of Conditions Leading Up to Calling of Miners Strike

These are the outstanding facts concerning the coal strike and what led up to it.

United Mine Workers of America, meeting at Cleveland September 23, sounded the first strike alarms by declaring the war-time wage agreement ended on November 1.

Executive officers charged with the duty of negotiating a new agreement were ordered to stand out for three demands, and if not granted, to issue a strike call for more than 400,000 soft coal miners in 28 states. These demands were. A five-day working week, a six-hour day, and a wage increase of 60 per cent.

At scale committee meetings at Buffalo and Philadelphia miners and operators threshed over their differences without settlement Representatives of the miners contended that their demands were not arbitrary, that the 60 per cent. wage increase was set as a basis for negotiation, that a six-hour day meant actual time the miners were to work underground.

The miners insisted on a five-day week, they said, because there were not four days a week of work the year round for each miner. They contended by limiting each miner to five days there would be a more equitable distribution of the work. The leaders denied that it was the beginning of a nation-wide campaign for a shorter working schedule.

After failure of the two sides to get together, the strike order was issued and Secretary of Labor Wilson, acting by direction of the President's cabinet, immediately called into conference the heads of the mining and operating associations. Subsequently, the full scale committees of each were called in and various proposals were offered and rejected.

The final proposal was made by President Wilson. It suggested negotiation without reservation, submission of questions still in dispute with the failure of negotiations to arbitration, and continued operation of the mines pending final settlement.

The operators, as set forth in a statement by Secretary Wilson, accepted the offer in its entirety, the miners accepted the offer of negotiation and "held the other two for consideration later." This, as explained by Secretary Wilson, abruptly ended the conference.

The miners in the series of conferences charged that while the war-time agreement still bound them to work at the old war-time wage scale, it removed restrictions on the war price of coal and permitted operators to charge what they pleased. This, they declared, had led to profiteering.

An appeal to the miners by President Wilson and announcement by Attorney General Palmer that the strike would be considered "illegal" failed to bring about the rescinding of the strike order.

SAYS INJUNCTION "BODES FOR ILL"

Samuel Gompers Denounces Government's Action In Securing Restraining Order

PLEADS LABOR'S CAUSE

Declares Manipulation Of Mine Owners Is Responsible For Industrial Troubles

Washington, Oct. 31. — Samuel Gompers, speaking tonight for organized labor, declared the injunction in the coal strike case "can only result in creating new and more disturbing issues which may not be confined solely to the miners."

The statement, issued jointly by Mr. Gompers Vice President Woll and Secretary Morrison, of the federation, after they had protested to Attorney General Palmer against the action of the federal court at Indianapolis, follows:

"Throughout the period of the war and during the nation's time of stress, the miners of America labored patiently, patriotically and arduously in order that the principles of freedom and democracy might triumph over the forces of arbitratry authority, dictatorship and despotism.

Mine Owners Enriched.

"When armed hostilities ceased last November, the miners found themselves in the paradoxical position where their intensive labor was being used to further enrich the owners of coal mines and merchants dealing in coal by the immediate reduction of the mining of the coal. Of course, the mine owners readily conceived that an over-abundance of mined coal would seriously disturb the high prices of coal and endanger the large margin of profits.

"On the other hand, the miners found that with the constantly-rising cost of necessities of life and with their income reduced over 50 per cent because of idleness, they had reached the limit of human endurance. Orderly and improved processes were invoked to negotiate a new understanding with the mine owners and which would enable the miners to work at least five days during each week throughout the entire year and allow them a wage sufficient to enable them to live in decency and free from many of the pressing uncertainties of life.

"In attempting to negotiate this new understanding and relation, the miners found that their plea for continuous employment would destroy the mine owners' arrangement to curtail the mining of coal so as to continue exploiting the public with high and exorbitant prices.

Owners Anxious to Negotiate.

"The mine owners very cleverly met the issue by appearing willing and anxious to negotiate but only if the miners would first throw aside the only power at their command to gain a respectful hearing and fair consideration—the decision to strike whenever it was demonstrated fair dealings did not prevail.

"We are now faced with a coal strike of vast magnitude The government now proposes to intervene because of a possible coal shortage. Apparently the government is not concerned with the manipulation by the mine owners which has made the present coal shortage and undue unemployment of the miners for the past 11 months. Instead of dealing with those responsible for this grave menace to the public welfare, it now proposes to punish those who by force of circumstances have been the victims of the coal barons' exploitations. The miners are now told the war is not over and that all war legislation is still in force and if reports received from Washington, the government intends to apply existing war measures, not against the owners of the coal mines, but against the coal miners. The government has taken steps to enforce war measures by an injunction and it has restrained the officials of the United Mine Workers from counseling, aiding or in any way assisting the members of this organization for relief against grievous conditions of life and employment.

"It is almost inconceivable that a government which is proud of its participation in a great war to liberate suppressed peoples should now undertake to suppress the legitimate aims, hopes and aspirations of a group of its own people.

"It is still more strange that [illegible] tion which may justly be proud of its Abraham Lincoln should now reverse the application of the great truths he enunciated when he said that as between capital and labor, labor should receive first and foremost consideration.

"The injunction against the United Mine Workers bodes for ill An injunction of this nature will not prevent the strike—it will not fill the empty stomachs of the miners It may restrain some leadership, but will give added strength to unwise counsel and increase bitterness and friction

"This injunction can only result in creating new and more disturbing issues which may not be confined solely to the miners"

These views were presented to Attorney General Palmer in a conference this afternoon lasting nearly two hours, by President Gompers Secretary Morrison and Vice Pres Woll of the American Federation of Labor

Fuel Administrator Revives War Orders

Washington, Oct. 31. — Fuel Administrator Garfield late today signed an order reviving the distribution and diversion order of the fuel administration, under which the old list of priorities immediately becomes effective.

While no action is contemplated now with regard to anthracite coal, Dr Garfield said that the course of prices would be watched carefully

"Just the moment anthracite coal shows any disposition to get away," he said, "maximum price orders will be revised to stop profiteering."

The preference list as it will now stand will operate in this order

Railroads, army and navy and other government departments, state and county offices and institutions, public utilities, retail dealers, manufacturing plants on the war industries board preference list, industries not on the list, jobbers, lake steamers, steamers at tide water.

Director General Hines today notified all regional directors to carry out the order which gives them authority to both seize and divert coal in transit.

Attorney General Palmer Explains Govt. Attitude

Washington, Oct. 31. — Railroad union officials conferring late today with Attorney General Palmer entered no protest against the injunction issued in Indianapolis today against the calling of the coal strike and tendered the good offices of their organization in attempting to arrange a settlement of the strike.

The attorney general told the railroad union chiefs, as well as Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, with whom he conferred after the meeting of the railroad men, that he did not believe it would be necessary to use other power than the courts "to protect the government."

Mr. Palmer said he told the union men that they were at liberty to say to either side in the strike that the President was ready to act immediately to have the controversy settled amicably whenever the strike was called off.

President Gompers, and other officials of the American Federation of Labor, were said, however, to have urged their views on the matter of the injunction in their conference with the attorney general.

Harrisburgh, Pa., Oct. 31. — Governor William C Sproul in a public statement tonight gave formal notice that "the full power of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through all of its agencies, will be used to protect those who desire to continue to work" during the mine workers' strike. Miners' marches and "any other demonstrations which might lead to disorder" will not be allowed, the statement said

DECLARES PRICE OF MEAT HAS DROPPED MATERIALLY

New York, Oct 31 — Housewives may be surprised to learn that meat in this state has dropped materially in price since August The drop ranged from 19 to 8 per cent as far as the farmer was concerned, according to figures made public today by H H. Jones state director of foods and markets By the time the reduction reached the consumer however, it appeared as three per cent decrease for lamb, two per cent for pork, none for beef and five per cent increase for veal

After stating that the average family in the United States spends twenty per cent of its income for meatstuffs, Director Jones concluded his statement with the remark

"If increased profits through decreased costs are to be absorbed by the various marketing agencies, how is the consumer to benefit?"

PROPOSES FINAL VOTE ON TREATY NOV. 12TH

No Action On Lodge's Plan For Speeding Up; Hitchcock Would Limit Debate

Washington, Oct 31 —Formal negotiations for an early final vote on ratification of the German peace treaty was launched today in the senate

Proposal that a final roll call be taken Wednesday, November 12, was made by Chairman Lodge of the foreign relations committee, while Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the administration leader, presented a counter proposal to limit to 15 minutes each senator's debate on all questions, beginning next week, but without proposing a definite date for the ratification vote

Those proposals submitted formally in writing went over without discussion until Monday The senate adjourned tonight until Monday without reaching a vote on any of the pending amendments

Confidence of acceptance by all Republicans of his plan to dispose of the treaty on November 12, was expressed tonight by Senator Lodge prior to his departure for a week-end trip to his home in Boston Senator Hitchcock, and other Democrats, indicated they would stand on the plan to curtail debate without agreement upon a definite voting date. Liquidation of debate, the administration forces feel, would secure a final vote early in November.

The proposals for ending the long drawn out contest on the treaty came at the close of another day of routine debate on the motion of Senator LaFollette, Republican of Wisconsin, to strike out the labor section of the treaty. Although leaders had hoped to vote on the LaFollette and other amendments before adjournment tonight, all went over until Monday.

THREE BOLSHEVIK VESSELS ARE REPORTED DESTROYED

London, Oct. 31.—An unconfirmed report has reached The Globe that three Bolshevik vessels were sunk when the Bolshevik attempted to land on the coast in the neighborhood of Petrograd, the vessels being bombarded by a British fleet.

The capture of Petropavlovsk from the forces of Admiral Kolchak by the Bolsheviki is claimed in a wireless dispatch received from Moscow today. The dispatch says the town fell Thursday.

FOOD FOR NEEDY STRIKERS.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31.—The commissary system by which needy strikers and their families are being rationed under the direction of the national strike committee is working satisfactorily, steel strike headquarters here announced tonight.

The proportion of strikers applying for aid has been what strike officials term "surprisingly small," but an increase is expected next week.

SUGAR EQUALIZATION BOARD.

New York, Oct. 31. — The continued existence of the sugar equalization board depends on whether legislation is enacted giving it authority to control profiteering and ration the manufacturing consumption of sugar. This was emphasized today in a telegram sent to Senator McNary of Oregon, in charge of the senate sugar investigation, by George A. Zabriskie, chairman of the equalization board.

PIERMEN'S STRIKE WANING.

New York, Oct. 31. — Prospect that the longshoremen's strike may soon end was visible again today when members of local 791 voted to return to work tomorrow. The men of this local are those employed on the Chelsea piers where the majority of the great trans-Atlantic liners dock. Leaders of the local claimed that similar action was about to be taken by other Manhattan and Brooklyn unions.

PERSHING FOR STANDING ARMY OF 300,000 MEN

Congressional Military Committees Hear General's Testimony

URGES PREPAREDNESS

Declares That Educational Work Should Be Combined With Universal Training

Washington, Oct. 31 — Dissenting in many important respects from the program recommended by the War department and the general staff, General Pershing told the military committees of congress today that 300,000 men, raised entirely by voluntary enlistment, should be the outside figure considered for a standing army.

He favored universal military training to provide an emergency reserve, but thought general educational work should be combined with it and military discipline "somewhat relaxed" so that the system would be in complete harmony with democratic institutions. He fixed six months as the training period.

The department had recommended an army of more than 500,000 with a system of universal training not embracing the educational feature. Its recommendation for a training period was three months.

Departing again from the expressed views of the department, the General declared army purchasing should be reorganized in a new bureau apart from the Quartermaster's corps, and that a separate department of the government should be organized to coordinate and supervise military, naval and commercial aeronautics. He considered the department's request for 231 general staff officers excessive, and made clear his opposition to an effort by the staff to extend its authority into the details of the department's bureaus and of the line.

Universal Training Essential.

General Pershing said universal military training was essential to preparedness.

"Military training makes better citizens," he declared.

"Its benefits should be extended to all our young men. Through service it increases their physique, it broadens their view of life, and it's democratic."

With universal service established, he continued, the military establishment could be made up first of a small party of regulars—"sufficient for expeditionary forces, which may be called out to sustain our obligations on the American continent," and to garrison outlying possessions—which would be backed up by a force in training and behind that a citizens' reserve.

General Pershing discussed the army reorganization bills pending before congress.

"In our experience in France," he said, "it became evident that a transport corps, including all classes of personnel, rail, water and highway, should be maintained.

"The experience with the air service makes it certain that this will be an element of increasing importance in warfare. America should not be allowed to lag behind other countries.

"It might be well to consolidate air forces, military, naval and commercial, under a single head as an assistance to progress."

Approves President's Authority.

The General also urged retention of a tank corps, and said the nurse corps deserved recognition

"It is necessary in time of war [illegible] the decision as to the organization corps and service be left to the [illegible] dent," he said, "and I believe authority should be left to him [illegible] of peace."

Provisions of the senate bill, Gen[illegible] Pershing said, created "too many [illegible] eral officers."

"Our traditions call for fewe[illegible] of these ranks," he said. "Nov[illegible] the general staff provisions, it [illegible] to me that under them line [illegible] might suffer in the matter of [illegible] tion.

Mrs. Luella B. Clarke

Democratic Candidate for

Member of Assembly

Residents of Oneonta, the women voters in particular, take great pride in the fact that one of their number, Mrs. Luella B. Clarke, has been honored with the Democratic nomination for member of assembly. Mrs. Clarke is a native of Schenevus and has been a resident of Oneonta for about 20 years. She is a member of the First Baptist church, the W. C. T. U., the National D. A. R, the Oneonta Red Cross, the Oneonta Women's club and other civic organizations and has taken an active and intelligent part in the city's civic growth.

The fact that Mrs. Clarke's opponent, Assemblyman Bloomfield, has aligned himself against the progressive legislation advocated by Governor Smith, while she is committed in favor of the Governor's Welfare program, will commend her to the progressive voters of the county.

Oneonta voters should show their loyalty to the city by supporting Mrs. Clarke.

DARTMOUTH-COLGATE GRIDIRON FIGHT TODAY

Further Reduction of Eastern College Championship Football Field Is Expected

New York, Oct. 31. — A further reduction of the eastern college championship football field may be expected from the games to be played tomorrow. Several undefeated teams will meet formidable opponents and before sundown may be eliminated from the race for gridiron titular honors.

This is particularly true of the Dartmouth-Colgate game at Hanover, N. H., for both these powerful elevens have swept all before them to date and nothing short of a tie game will keep both combinations in the running. So far as can be judged in advance, there appears to be little advantage one way or the other when the work of the two teams throughout the season is compared. Colgate has played four games, defeating Brown, Cornell and Princeton in the last three without being scored upon. Dartmouth has played five games, winning all, but her most impressive victories were those achieved during the past two weeks at the expense of Penn State and Cornell. So far as comparative scores are concerned, Colgate appears to have a slight advantage on Dartmouth, for, whereas Dartmouth defeated Cornell 9 to 0, Colgate scored 21 points against the same team. Cornell was a week further advanced when Dartmouth met the Ithaca team than was the case in the Colgate-Cornell game, but this is more than counterbalanced by the fact that Colgate is still suffering from the gruelling contest against Princeton seven days ago. It would appear, therefore, that the physical condition of the players and the material available for the contest will be the probable slight margin to spell the difference between victory and defeat.

Two other contests stand out in the day's schedule, involving undefeated combinations in the Pennsylvania-State and the Lehigh-Pittsburgh Penn State and the Lehigh-Pittsburgh one or both of these struggles adds interest to the matches, for all four are powerful in both attack and defense. Penn State has an impressive record, notwithstanding the defeat by Dartmouth, 13 to 19. Pennsylvania, with a clean slate to date against five opponents, three of which were teams of high calibre, is a favorite, but any let-down in form would be disastrous with Penn State on the same gridiron.

Lehigh, one of the few elevens which has not been scored against yet, will entertain Pittsburgh at South Bethlehem and another hard contest is assured. The ability of the home team can be gauged by its defeat of Rutgers, 19 to 0. Pittsburgh, regardless of the loss of a game to Syracuse, is a formidable aggregation and Glenn Warner's pupils can be expected to give Lehigh a bitter battle.

Two intersectional games also feature the day's card as West Virginia plays Princeton and Maryland State meets Yale.

at 1:30 P. M., rain or shine

Having lost my four barns on Tuesday night last, am absolutely compelled to offer the remainder of my cows, heifers and calves to the highest bidders. Cows are nearby and all are big milkers, having been kept for dairy purposes—good ages, all. Heifers are nice ones and were purchased for foundation stock, coming from extra good mothers. Owing to the compulsory nature of this sale will greatly appreciate the attendance of my buying friends. Every head must go. Sale will take place at the farm of Mr. E. A. Nichols on state road between Colliers and Maryland for the convenience of all.

MARKET DISREGARDS MINE LABOR CRISIS

Stocks Again Push Forward Turnover Being Next To Largest Of Month

New York, Oct. 31. — Disregarding the most critical aspects of the labor situation, as suggested by the threatened walkout of the bituminous coal miners tonight, stocks were again pushed forward today, the turnover, with one exception, being the most extensive of the month.

Steels, equipments, and affiliated shares, whose productive capacity would be most seriously affected by a protracted suspension of operations at the mines, dominated the market to a greater degree than at any recent period.

These issues, almost as a whole, soared to highest levels of the current movement. In a number of noteworthy instances new maximums not only for the year, but for all previous records, were registered.

The market displayed remarkable stability throughout, reacting only moderately in the final dealings, when call loans rose to 19 per cent., the highest rate in many weeks and 10 per cent. over the initial quotation.

Foremost features included Republican Iron, which retained the greater part of its 15 point advance; Lackawanna and Gulf State steels, at extreme gains of 8 points; Pressed Steel Car, 5; and others of that group, 2 to 4. United States Steel, however, eased at the close.

Baldwin Locomotive led the equipments, though forfeiting part of its 6-point rise, and several of the less prominent shares of that division, notably Worthington Pump, Otis Elevator, and Chicago Pneumatic Tool, made gross gains of 5 to 12 points.

Shippings, Republican and Studebaker Motors, United States Rubber, American Woolen, May Department Stores, International Paper, American Smelting, Paper preferred, and Sears-Roebuck headed the other outstanding issues, advancing 4 to 20 points at the close. Sales amounted to 1,950,000 shares.

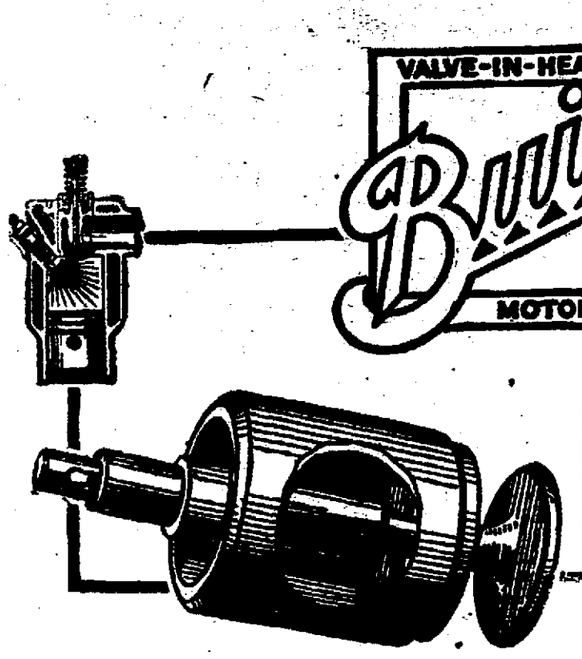

Bonds were without especial feature, although irregular in the main, on smaller dealings. Total sales, par value, aggregated $12,275,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WEST ONEONTA LETTER.

Hallowe'en Parties—Church Notices—Personals and Locals.

West Oneonta, Oct. 31.—Cecil B. Weatherly was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening when some of his friends gathered at his home for a Hallowe'en party. Hallowe'en stunts were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

A few girl friends of Miss Marion King were entertained at her home for a Hallowe'en tea this evening. Today was Miss King's fourteenth birthday.

Notices of Meetings.

Covenant meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at the First Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock.

The Women's Mite society will serve its annual election dinner at the church Tuesday.

The First Baptist church will make a donation for the pastor, Rev. F. H. King, Friday evening, November 7.

Sunday Church Services.

Services will be held in the Free Baptist church Sunday morning and union services Sunday evening. It is expected the pastor, Rev. C. H. Manning, who has been taking a two weeks' vacation, will have charge of both services.

Usual services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Notes.

Rev. D. S. Haynes of Fair Haven to Preach in Hobart Presbyterian Church

Hobart, Oct. 31.—Rev. D. S. Haynes of Fair Haven will preach in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Haynes, who is a young man, comes highly recommended as a candidate for the pulpit. It is hoped that all interested in the church will be present to hear him.

Christian Endeavor and Sunday school will meet at the regular hours.

Social Events.

Mrs. W. H. McClelland and daughter, Annie, delightfully entertained about 50 friends at their pleasant home below the village Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5. The hours were given up to euchre and flinch, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Dr. and Mrs. Cunningham entertained a few friends at a Hallowe'en supper tonight.

Miss McNaught Arrives.

Miss Grace McNaught of Denver, Colorado, arrived in Hobart this evening and will spend several weeks with Mrs. John Cowan and other relatives here.

THE DAY AT DELHI.

Former John C. Tweedie House Being Repaired and Improved.

Delhi, Oct. 31.—The former John C. Tweedie house, Upper Main street, known also as the Cook house, is being repaired and improved by the new owner, C. A. Whispell. This cottage among the older houses in town was once owned by the Sheldons, having been transferred by deed to the late Charles Cook in 1904 by George R. and William C. Sheldon as executors of the estate of William C. Sheldon sr. It had been changed but little from its original architecture and there was considerable doubt as to whether it would stand being raised on to a foundation of concrete blocks but under the direction of H. K. Dean it went up "like clock work" last week, all the sills being found whole with the exception of one about five feet of which had rotted away. The soft pine boards which compose the flooring in the main rooms are some of them 23 inches wide, and these too have stood the test of time wonderfully. New flooring, repapering, exterior painting are the present improvements being made, with other changes contemplated later. Dirt has been drawn for grading up the lawn. The house will be occupied by Howard Wright and family.

Environment Affects Belief.

Before the days of good roads out in Illinois a man on horseback was carefully picking his way over a country road, where the black prairie soil is very deep. Noticing a hat lying in the roadway he dismounted, picked up the hat, and under it he dug out a man, and under the man he found a horse. If this story was told to some person who was only familiar with stone and macadam roads it would not be accredited; but any resident on Main street Delhi, N. Y., would believe it without question.

Supreme Court Items.

This morning the case of William Thorpe vs Helen E. Wood was called, it is a claim for commissions connected with the sale of a house and lot in the village of Sidney by the plaintiff for the defendant. This case will be the last to be tried this term of supreme court and at its conclusion, which will probably be today, the jurors will be discharged. The grand jury has had a busy week and will have to hustle to complete their work this week. It is a notable fact that no excise or booze cases have been presented for the consideration of the jury.

Cured His Rheumatism!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change." You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of this paper wishes "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to the author below. Send now, lest you forget! If not a sufferer yourself cut out this notice and hand this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it by return mail without any charge whatever, if letter or post card is addressed to Mr. H. B. Clearwater, No. 353 D street, Hallowell, Maine.

HOW TO KNOW PURE CASTILE SOAP

For years people have been deceived by many so-called Castile Soaps, because neither the scent nor eye detect the imitation. Pure Castile is of white texture, made from pure Olive Oil only; cake doesn't turn rancid—a shrivelled cake denotes excess water.

Lace is firm and solid, made from pure Olive Oil—a product of 112 years export soap making by one family in Spain—an absolutely pure Castile Soap. Try it.

"FAIR AND WARMER"

Selwyn & Company's Latest Success at Oneonta Theatre Tuesday.

Selwyn & Company will present their latest and greatest farce success, "Fair and Warmer," at the Oneonta theatre on Tuesday, matinee and evening, November 4, in answer to a tremendous demand from all parts of the country that Broadway's favorite play should be put on tour.

Avery Hopwood, its author, added even to his own fine reputation, achieved with "Seven Days" and "Nobody's Widow," when Fair and Warmer" first appeared at the Eltinge theatre, New York, to begin its year-long career as a money maker and a laugh maker; and Selwyn and company, who made their fame at picking winners with "Within The Law," "Twin Beds," etc., put another notch on their totem pole.

"Fair and Warmer" is the merriest of tales, divulged in three acts of mounting drama and high pitched comedy. It begins with a revelation to two highly respectable and domestic persons—a husband above reproach and below interest, and a wife, a perfect paragon of innocent domesticity, that their respective spouses have been having a time more gay than creditable. The very good pair vow a revenge, and having no experience to guide or warn them, decide on counter-naughtiness as a suitable course.

They discover that getting into trouble is far easier than getting out of it, and that lacking a practiced hand, the consequences of trouble are more apt to behave like a boomerang than a projectile. It is, in brief, precisely the kind of thing Avery Hopwood knows best how to handle, and to interlard with his inimitable shafts of wit and barbs of social commentary. Seat sale Monday 10 a. m.

Growing Old Gracefully.

The death on Monday of the present week of William O. Elmore of this city brings to mind how fine and notable a thing it is when one who has passed the days of middle age activities, and perforce is somewhat withdrawn from what we are accustomed to denominate "the world," keeps still a kindly heart, a receptive mood and a keen perception of the passing show of life—who in short grows old gracefully.

Too frefuently this is not the case. Too often age brings with itself a feeling of mental and perhaps of spiritual aloofness. Too generally there is unfortunate belief that there is no sympathetic bond betwixt the extremes of life, and that "youth must sing songs for youth, and age for age." Such belief is in the greatest degree unfortunate, since it builds and strengthens a wall which never should have had beginnings; and as a result old age too often finds itself unduly and unnecessarily hedged about.

In the case of the gentleman above referred to, there was no such impassable boundary. Age which measurably impeded his physical activities, had no such effect on his mind. Rather in retirement there was opportunity for wider reading, for more careful thought and for wider acquaintanceship with young and old, —an opportunity which to the fullest degree he embraced. So life glided along serenely, and happy in the comradeship of youth and sympathetic with all its activities, he came peacefully to the end of it.

Such a life as this is for an example to all, since all from the first cradle breath are growing old. How to do so gracefully, and at the same time acquiescingly, is a wonderful thing to know. This knowledge was to the fullest degree possessed by Mr. Elmore and for this reason a study of his life may well be beneficial to those who, while possibly not possessing all his attributes, can at least be benefitted by a survey of them.

Labor Organizations of Oneonta.

At a time when in other sections of the country, and largely in a neighboring state, workingmen are striking in defiance of their agreement with their employers, it is a pleasant thing to recall that never in the history of trades unions in Oneonta have the men here left their employment under conditions. Instead they have always been scrupulous in carrying out agreements, and such strikes as have been have been carried out disorder and have ... feeling of animosity for this, and a ... to a great extent have not been ... actual property ... occupying ... with other ... vocation. ... have a ... city ... a ... a ... h ... p ...

Profitable Banditry.

Our position in Mexico has not been strengthened in any way by the Jenkins case. The prompt payment of the insignificant sum of $150,000 to the kidnappers by Puebla friends of the United States consular agent will hardly discourage other bandits from trying something like it in the future. The Mexican government is expected to reimburse the ransomers. Whether this is done or not, the bandits have theirs. The captors of the army aviators also made a pretty penny in their kidnapping exploit.

Carranza soldiers are understood to have had a hand in the holding of the American consular agent. This means either that First Chief Carranza has a very poor hold on his followers, or that the pretensions of the existing government in Mexico to friendship for the United States are simply the sham and buncombe many of us believe them to be.

We cannot afford to let the Jenkins case pass unnoticed any more than we can pass by without investigation the deaths of Aviators Connolly and Waterhouse. The bandit business is getting to be too good altogether in Mexico.—[Buffalo Commercial.

A Strike Doomed to Failure.

The great fact to be remembered by the executives of the United Mine Workers of America is that the strike which they now and finally decree to begin Saturday morning will have no support whatsoever in public opinion. It is already manifest, on the contrary, that it will meet with a volume of popular antagonism and wrath such as few labor movements of the kind have ever before encountered.

The American people are not going to be frozen into submission to any private autocratic body seeking to place its own interests above all others.—[New York World.

Organized Patriotism.

Patriotism should become more organized; not only more organized but more earnest, more militant, more intelligent. We have been eulogizing Colonel Roosevelt because he shook the country out of its materialism. Who will deserve as well by shaking it out of the sloth of indifferentism—out of the fatal notion that all the questions are solved and that it is no longer necessary to be active in defence of the general welfare?

Most of our political, social and industrial problems would be solved if organized self-seekers met counter organization. At the threshold should be met those who do not reverence democracy and conceive of government as an agency to advance their private interests without regard to the effect on general interests.—[New York Tribune.

Woman on the Bench.

A woman candidate for a municipal court judgeship in New York city, Miss Bertha Rembaugh, is cordially indorsed by Charles E. Hughes and Nicholas Murray Butler, among others, and nobody seems to be saying anything against her candidacy. The old "anti" arguments have lost their savor. Meanwhile the first woman magistrate in the state has just been appointed by Mayor Hylan. She is Mrs. Jean H. Norris, assistant secretary of Tammany Hall.—[Exchange.

Silenced Her Ma.

"Mabel," said her mother, "it seems to me that you had the gas turned rather low while young Huggins was here last evening."

"It was partly for economy sake, ma."

"There is no use trying to beat the gas company, my daughter. I've noticed the shutting off of the gas is followed by a corresponding increase of pressure."

"Well, that lessens the waist, doesn't it, mother dear?" replied the artless girl. And he fond mother could not find an answer.—[Boston Transcript.

Potato Flour and Potato Starch.

POTATO flour should not be confused with potato starch flour, which is starch obtained by a process of washing the starch grain from the cellulose, then allowing the starch to deposit and the water pass off.

Potato flour, on the other hand, is the whole potato washed, cooked and flaked on hot rollers and ground into flour containing all of the protein and other vegetable and mineral substances which are wasted in starch making.

Before the war all the natural potato flour we obtained was imported from Europe in immense quantities.

It is stated that should we produce an equal amount to that formerly imported it would take our entire potato crop.

All during the war the bakers were handicapped for the lack of natural potato flour, but now several mills have been established in America, which are making a very superior article which will compare favorably with any flour ever made anywhere in the world. When the war broke out and we needed this flour, the market was entirely bare and we had no machinery in this country with which to make it. We had let our raw material go to waste and had bought finished products from other countries which we should have made ourselves.

Mills equipped with American machinery to make American potato flour have been established at Cadillac, Mich.; Grand Rapids, Wis.; Bemidji, Minn., and Idaho Falls, Idaho, with several other mills in process of construction.

It will be some time before we can catch up with the demand, but it will be one of America's foremost industries within a few years.

Commercial Traveler Breaks Knee.

While William Klophaus, of Albany, a commercial traveler employed by the firm of S. M. Bixbey & Co., was coming down the state road yesterday afternoon, his car skidded on the wet leaves about two miles above the city and was overturned. Mr. Klophaus was thrown out and sustained a split knee cap. He was taken to the Fox Memorial hospital, where his injuries were attended to, and he left on the 3:45 train for his home city, where he will enter the Albany hospital.

Rugs Are Coming In—

We are beginning to receive Whittall Anglo-Persian and Royal Worcester Wilton, and Peerless Body Brussels Rugs again. Due to acute shortage in the market, our stock of these better rugs has been much depleted. But we are now glad to announce that we have a good quantity again on our floor.

Our stock of Axminster and Tapestry Brussels Rugs is unusually good, considering present market conditions, and we can show a good line of both. We have an especially good showing of small sizes. We have a complete line of fibre and wool and fibre rugs.

We have a large stock of Stair and Hall Carpets in Velvets, Tapestry Brussels and Ingrain.

Our Linoleums, Congoleums and Congoleum Art Rugs are in good patterns and variety.

Saturday Book Column

The books listed below, appearing for the most part this fall, merit the attention of all book lovers. We can recommend them to all readers who ask for "something interesting, not too heavy, but well written and worth while."

"The Lamp in the Desert," by Ethel Dell. A romance of India and more dramatic, more touching, more all-absorbing than any of the fine romances with which this gifted author has charmed a multitude of readers. $1.75

By the same writer:

The Bars of Iron.

The Way of an Eagle.

The Keeper of the Door.

The Knave of Diamonds.

The Rocks of Valpre.

75 Cents Each.

"The River's End," by Curwood. Suppose you loved a girl who thought you her brother? Suppose—but you must read this thrilling story of the mounted police in the great northwest, exciting adventure, absorbing mystery and beautiful love. $1.50. Many of Curwood's earlier books come in the seventy-five cent line. We have them all.

"Smiles—A Rose of the Cumberlands," by Eliot H. Robinson, a new writer, is hailed as one of the best novels of the fall and sure to make lots of friends. If you liked Pollyanna you will like "Smiles." ... $1.50

"The Re-Creation of Brian Kent," by the Master Story Teller—Harold Bell Wright—is as sweet and clean and wholesome as the out-of-doors of God's unspoiled world of the Ozark hills. $1.50

By the same writer:

Shepherd of the Hills.

Winning of Barbara Worth.

Dan Matthews.

Printer of Udells.

Their Yesterdays.

When a Man's a Man.

75 Cents Each.

"The Branding Iron," by Burt. A romance of the east and west that will appeal equally to lovers of the best fiction and to those who crave the thrill of the untamed wilderness. A gripping plot of love, hate, wrong and atonement. $1.65

"Mare Nostrum," by Ibanez. The beauty and poetry of the Mediterranean is the background of this thrilling story by the author of "The Four Horsemen." You should read it if you are one of the many who enjoyed "The Four Horsemen." Both books are .... $1.90 Each

"The Moon and Sixpence," by Maugham, is a brilliantly audacious book that is provoking a good deal of talk. $1.50

"Partners of the Out-Trail," by Bindloss. A very satisfying romance by this popular author. $1.60

"Rainbow Valley," by L. M. Montgomery, is a book by the author of "Anne of Green Gables," that will delight all of her many admirers. $1.60

"Ramsey Milholland," by Booth Tarkington, is a story of a Penrod coming to manhood. It is also the story of Dora Yocum—a girl that you will grow to love before you finish the book. $1.60

"Old Madhouse," by Wm. de Morgan. If you have read "Joseph Vance" or some of the other de Morgan books you will like this tale—one of the best mystery stories in all fiction. $1.90

"Burned Bridges," by Bertrand W. Sinclair. A story partly laid in the Canadian Northwest and on the Pacific coast...$1.60

"Dangerous Days," by Mary Roberts Rinehart, author of "The Amazing Interlude" (now in the 75 cent reprint edition), portrays the most absorbing problem of married life of today. $1.60

"Ladies-in-Waiting," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. All the heroines of these characteristic and enjoyable stories, have a common bond of sympathy in the waiting which fell to their lot. $1.65

"Ridin' Kid of Powder River," by Henry H. Knibbs, is a virile cowboy yarn with all the zest and swiftness of the usual story of the West, but different in its crisp style. "Pete," the hero, is not the stereotyped cowboy of fiction, but a decidedly individual character, whose courage, honesty and native shrewdness give him a very real personality. $1.75

"Sisters," by Kathleen Norris, tells the story of hasty and thwarted love finding at last the way to happiness. $1.60

"Tang of Life," by the author of "The Ridin' Kid of Powder River," tells here a rapid virile story of the West, dealing with the affairs of one Jim Waring, a sort of unofficial sheriff, whose ambition in life is to "get" bad men. $1.65

"The Tin Soldier," by Temple Bailey, is one of the spring books that we cannot leave out of this list. It's one of the best. A quick action tale with a very real pull at the heartstrings.

Among the soldiers in France, Ridgwell Cullum proved by actual vote to be the most popular living writer of Western stories. We mention this fact because we have all or nearly all of his books in the Popular Reprint line that we sell at seventy-five cents a volume. If you want a good western story for over Sunday, come in today and get a "Cullum."

Other new Reprints just in are:

Anne's House of Dreams—L. M. Montgomery.

The Bars of Iron—Ethel M. Dell.

Vanguards of the Plains—Margaret Hill McCarter.

The Wishing Ring Man—Margaret Widdemer.

Mary Regan—Leroy Scott.

The Devil's Own—Randall Parish.

Partners of the Night—Leroy Scott.

And others—all at 75 Cents Each.

"Raise Them on Books, They Grow Bigger." It is with the intention of inducing the public in general to make books—good books—more accessible to children in the home, that the libraries and booksellers all over the country have set aside the week of November 10 to 15 as a time to make an intensive effort to display the best in children's books, and we cordially invite you to drop in our store during that week and look over the many attractive books on display.

Our Book Club rents the latest fiction for two cents a day—minimum fee, six cents. Mail Orders will be filled promptly from these Saturday columns, carriage postpaid.

Going Chestnutting.

Once a man and twice a child. How true that old saying is. I am getting old and often look back to the time "when skies were blue and summer days were long." A good farmer of Delaware county asked me to come over and go chestnutting. I had visions of the long ago and when as a kid farmers used to holler at me: "Get out of there!" and chase me away from the chestnut trees. I again saw the old swimmin' hole and the faithful farm dog that used to go with me after the woodchucks, and I just had to go chestnutting. It was sure great, and for the day I forgot my trials and troubles. Before starting for home the good farmer brought me some nice apples and said: 'Do you know that you have a mighty good thing for people over there in Oneonta?" And then he went on to tell me how it helped him to buy his farm on easy monthly payments and how with good prices for milk, apples, etc., he was making larger payments and thus stopping interest; how he would soon get the mortgage paid off and by thus cutting his monthly payments to $15, would soon have $3,000 in cash and his farm all paid for. This good farmer was telling me about the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association and had used his brain to think. Say, it was a great day, for I knew all about how the association had helped hundreds of people to get some three million dollars' worth of homes and farms and how it was now helping others to get over two millions worth more. As I came back to my home in Oneonta I wondered why many other people did not make hay while the sun shines and thus have visions of gladness instead of sorrow when thoughts go back to times "when skies were blue and summer days were long." advt 1t

Can you think of anything worse to work with than an old broom? Of course you can't. So just step to the 'phone and tell Finigan's grocery to send you a nice new one. You won't have to wait long, for they are always on the job. advt 1t

HALLOWE'EN FESTIVITIES

How Young and Old, Masked and Unmasked, Let 'Emselves Loose Last Evening—Threatening Weather No Hindrance — Numerous Entertainments—False Alarm of Fire.

White face and black face and piebald, dancing girl and demure Quakeress, grey beards and black-beards, full beards and mutton chops, bald heads and red heads and others, Uncle Sams and Aunt Dinahs, witches with peaked caps and other more modern witches with no caps at all, Spaniards and Greeks, Hebrews and wild Indians, Dutch maidens and French demoiselles, all nationalities, in fact, except the Hun, were represented in costume on the streets of Oneonta last evening. Never before, in fact, despite the threatening weather, was Hallowe'en ushered in for this city with such general preparedness, and sidewalks and streets even were blocked at an early hour with a happy, dancing, laughing throng. The spirit of the night, though half way round the calendar from Walpurgis, which is witches' night on the Brocken, permeated everybody, whether masked or not.

Rain set in a little later, and to a degree drove the revelers indoors or beneath umbrellas None the less there was mirth abroad, and no end of it until a late hour. As to whether movable articles were spirited away, or whether as among the Danes, "the wind moved the signboards,' revelation will come with the early morning, but in general it was an orderly crowd, and without disposition to cause annoyance to anybody.

These were the public features of Hallowe'en in Oneonta. In addition, there were many public, private and semi-private observances of which it is possible to record only a few Among them, however, were the following:

Boy Scouts at Wilber Park.

About 50 of the Boy Scouts of Oneonta were present in costume at the bonfire announced to be held ot Wilber park. A pleasant hour was spent around the fire, a new yell was learned, and a song or two sung, after which, on account of the rain, the Scouts adjourned to Municipal building, where addresses were made by Superintendent Dann of the Oneonta Public schools and Prof. Lynch of the Normal, their theme being "Theodore Roosevelt as the Ideal Citizen," whose work and life should be an inspiration to all. Afterwards the prizes won at the recent field day were distributed and other familiar songs were sung.

Announcement was also made at the meeting that on Friday night of next week, the Boy Scouts would be addressed at Municipal hall by Mrs. William T. Hyde of Cooperstown on the work of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the purpose being to enlist the Scouts in the work for the coming year, which will be outlined by Mrs. Hyde.

Captain Dark Town Police Force.

One of the most original and clever masquerades seen on the streets last evening was that of Captain Rastus Brown of the Dark Town police force. The captain was out in full regalia, being attired in a policeman's uniform and carrying full equipment, consisting of a rifle, night stick and red lantern, with a very black face and a very clever dialect. He was very busily engaged in directing traffic, and watching out that the merry makers did not over step in their fun. The alias of the masquerading officer was not known till a little follow stepped up and said, "Hello Rothy." Then the jig was up.

Hallowe'en at the Normal.

Hallowe'en was celebrated at the Normal school last evening, by the Senior class entertaining the Juniors. The main fete was a circus, the leading feature of which was a minstrel show, and tight rope walking. A very enjoyable and mirthful evening was had by all attending.

Hallowe'en Dance at Armory.

A very successful Hallowe'en dance was held at the armory last evening by the members of Company G, about 100 couples attending. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Jazzers.

Camp Fire Girls Celebrate.

The Hiawatha Camp Fire Girls held a Hallowe'en party last evening at the home of their guardian, Miss Ethel Beach, 270 Chestnut street. About 20 members attended. The evening was celebrated by games and music and refreshments. A jolly good time was reported by all.

Royal Rebekah Lodge Holds Social.

The Royal Rebekahs held a masquerade social at their lodge rooms on Chestnut street last evening. About 100 people were present. The social was opened by a grand march followed by games, ghosts, and a witch dance. Prizes were awarded to the funniest and the best dressed masquerader attending. Refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was experienced by all attending.

Mrs. E. Crandall Gives Party.

Mrs. E. Crandall, 26 River street, gave a Hallowe'en party last evening in honor of Miss Florence Tamsett, about 20 people attending. House decorations being suitable for the season. Games were played and refreshments served, the guests departing at a late hour, after a most enjoyable evening.

Miss Dorothy White Entertains.

Miss Dorothy White, 18½ Division street, gave a Hallowe'en party at her home last evening. A goodly number of guests were present, the evening being spent in games and other amusements. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant time was had by all.

West End Church Observes Hallowe'en

The Circle and Christian Endeavor societies of the West End Baptist church joined in a Hallowe'en social last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thompson, South Main. There were about 75 people present.

the majority in costumes and masks. After many amusing attempts at identifying one another, games were started, followed by refreshments. All present thoroughly enjoyed the abounding hospitality of their kindly host and hostess.

Miscreants Turn in Fire Alarm.

At 10:17 last evening the fire department were called to Box 68, corner of River and VanWoert streets, in response to an alarm of fire. As was supposed there was no fire, some miscreants having turned in the alarm, and rousing some of the firemen out of bed that had already retired. Hallowe'en jokes when practical are entirely in place with the occasion, but not when turning in false fire alarms, especially when the streets are crowded, and in a slippery condition as they were last evening, when a serious accident might have easily resulted.

NEW OWNERS TAKE TITLE.

Directors of Citizens' National Bank Acquire Chestnut and Diets Land Co.

In consummation of a real estate deal sometime ago mentioned in The Star, the directors of the Citizens' National bank yesterday closed the option taken on their behalf by M. C. Hemstreet from Miller, Keyes and Keenan, Inc., and are now owners of 50 feet front of the Oneonta Hotel block, where the bank and Herrieff's Clothes shop are now located.

They are also taking over the entire capital stock of the Chestnut and Diets Land company, which company will take title to the property.

As was previously stated the new owners contemplate important changes on the first floor of the building and eventually the bank will occupy the entire frontage.

Last Chance for Beef and Bacon.

Thrifty householders of Oneonta have their attention called to the fact that the last sale of government beef and bacon, of which the mayor's committee has only a limited supply, will be held at the armory from 9 a. m. to 12 m., and from 4 to 6 p. m. today. The previous low prices will be continued. As there will not be another sale, all desiring to take advantage of these bargains should do so before 6 o'clock tonight.

Susie's Kitchen Band.

The advance agent for this famous organization was in the city yesterday looking for a suitable auditorium in which to give a concert next Thursday evening, November 6. It is to be hoped satisfactory arrangements may be made as it would be most unfortunate if the music lovers of Oneonta should be compelled to miss such a rare musical treat.

NARCOTIC CLINIC IN ONEONTA.

Co-Operation of All Asked to Make Law Effective.

Deputy Commissioner Fred C. Morrill announces that the State Department of Narcotic Drug Control, working in co-operation with the city officials, will establish in the city of Oneonta a narcotic clinic. This has already been done in the city of New York and is meeting with marked success, and the same plan is to be followed throughout the state.

The clinic in Oneonta will be opened at 246 Main street, and will be under the supervision of Doctor Daniel Luce.

We feel confident that this will help the situation and stop the growth of this addicted disease and bridge over a chasm, giving opportunity for medical study of conditions and lead to what we are confident must ultimately come, approved scientific medical treatment of addicted persons in properly equipped institutions.

We expect the co-operation of city officials, physicians, pharmacists and all public spirited citizens in an effort to make effective the purpose of this law—to save the city and state from an evil, the cause of which is ignorance, the effect of which is misery, the remedy for which is education.

Physicians will be permitted to prescribe narcotics for patients suffering from maladies which require drugs to relieve pain, but the drug addict work will be taken over by the clinic.

[MI]KE DONLIN, BEAU BRUMMEL OF BASEBALL, IS COMING TO TOWN IN "TURN TO THE RIGHT!"

Above, as Donlin Appears in the Role of the Comedy Pickpocket in "Turn to the Right." Center, in Action With the Giants; Below, as He is Known in Broadway's Clubs and Cafes.

When the public attaches itself firmly to a "regular fellow" in the realm of sport, its custom is to make an actor of him.

Jim Corbett, Apollo of the prize ring, has amassed a second fortune spinning yarns for vaudeville audiences.

Jimmy Britt, another exponent of the padded mitts, has given his monologue before nearly all the crowned heads of Europe and is a reigning music hall favorite in London.

And now comes Mike Donlin, one of the most popular of all baseball heroes, the latest to lay aside the laurels of sport to win them afresh as a thespian. To be sure, the step from the clubhouse to the dressing room isn't any recent experiment for Donlin. As a matter of fact, he has been collecting salary as an actor ever since his return from the famous globe girdling tour of the Giants in 1914, but not until this season has his stage work matched his prominence as a diamond star. Lack of opportunity in the roles that he has played in vaudeville and comedy has kept him in comparative obscurity.

The goal of Mike's ambition has been reached this season, however, and newspaper reviewers in New York, Chicago and Boston have agreed that he has "arrived." A change in the original Broadway cast of "Turn to the Right!" gave him his opportunity.

John Golden, producer of the widely praised laugh maker, needed a "type" for the part of the smooth, deft pickpocket, "Slippery Muggs," an important factor in the rollicking fun of the play, and at Donlin's earnest solicitation he was allowed a tryout. The instantaneous hit scored by the ballplayer-actor resulted in the producer signing him on a long term contrct at a fancy figure. Donlin is now on tour with the original production of "Turn to the Right!" that was presented at the Gaiety theatre, New York, for a solid year, and he will appear with the organization at the Oneonta theatre, Friday, November 7.

Next season he will probably be featured in a new play by Mr. Golden.

Donlin is popular in sporting circles wherever English is spoken, and, while many anecdotes are told dealing with his aggressiveness and daring on the diamond, even his former opponents pay enthusiastic tribute to his cleancut, gentlemanly qualities as a sportsman and friend. In physique and general appearance he is rated as one of the most commanding figures that ever wore a baseball uniform.

MARRIAGES.

Blakeslee-Velle.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton H. Velle of 26 Cherry street, Friday, October 31, at 7 p. m., their elder daughter, Mildred, was united in marriage with Leon J. Blakeslee, also of Oneonta. Rev. J. C. Johnson, pastor of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony, the ring service being used. Bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walthers, the latter being a sister of the bride. The bride was gowned in silk net over white satin, with veil of silk net with orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of white carnations. Her traveling suit was of brown velvet with hat to match. The dress of the matron of honor was of gray net over pink silk. The wedding was by happy coincidence on the 24th anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents.

The groom, who spent two years in the American army, is a valued employe of the D. & H. company. The bride is an instructor with the Kayser company.

Many friends will extend best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee, both of whom are held in high esteem. They left last evening by auto for a trip through the Catskills, being accompanied as far as Grand Gorge by Mr. and Mrs. Velle and Mr. and Mrs. Walthers.

Pony Contest Closes Today.

The pony contest at the Oneonta theatre closes Saturday. All votes must be in before the last show today. No votes will be received afterward. Winners will be announced at the 7 o'clock show Monday. The prizes are as follows:

First Prize — Pony, saddle and bridle.

Second Prize—$5.00 in gold.

Third Prize—Two tickets for six evening shows.

The pony, which has been shipped from Boston by the Wall and Hill Pony farms and is expected this week-end, will be on exhibition Saturday, if it arrives on time.

Mrs. Jordan, Normal Alumnus, Dead.

Jennie Glendenning, wife of Clark Jordan, died suddenly at her home near Franklin this week. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Glendenning, who reside near West Delhi. Besides her husband she is survived by an infant son, two sisters, and a brother. She was a graduate of the Delhi High school and the Oneonta Normal. The funeral will be held at the home of her parents this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

City Engineer Gurney Leaves.

City Engineer and Mrs. Frank M. Gurney and daughter, Elizabeth, left this city Thursday morning, for New York city, where they will probably make their future residence. Mr. Gurney has had a very lucrative position offered him by the Emerson Engineers of that city, and has secured a six months leave of absence, in which to investigate the proposition, with a view to acceptance.

Slight Accident on Trolley Line.

Main line cars on the trolley line were delayed Friday morning until 10 o'clock by a slight accident at stop 19 near Otsego park. Two coal cars jumped the track and remained off for 10 hours. Soft ground, poor ties and the exceeding heaviness of the cars caused the accident, which was fortunately accompanied by no damage.

Expected Home Today.

Edward M. Ronan, Claude Smith and George Killeen, who have been spending the week in the Adirondacks with a friend of Mr. Ronan residing in Lowville, are expected to return today. The party was very fortunate, having shot three deer.

Examinations at High School.

Examinations for the position of census enumerators were tried by 120 men and women at the High school Friday afternoon. The examinations were held in relays, in the mathematics rooms, the first starting at 12:30 and ending at 3:30, the second starting at 3:30 and ending at 6:30.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

New Books and Magazines Now Arriving—Some Fresh Titles in Fiction.

For several weeks the library has not been receiving its usual number of new books, as on account of the strike in New York city in the express companies, such transportations was at a standstill. There has been a dearth in the October and November magazines also because of the printers' strike.

This week, however, the new books have begun to come in in good number, and the delayed magazines are arriving, so there is no lack of up-to-date reading matter on hand, both in the reading room and for loaning.

Fortunately for our readers just before the transportation tie-up occurred there had been a large number of the fall's good books received, so no very great inconvenience was felt.

Among the many attractive titles just received are the following in fiction: The Querrils, Aumonier; Simon, a mystery story by J. S. Clouston, author of the Spy in Black; Happy End, Hergesheimer; Cheerful by Request, Ferber; Carringtons of High Hill, Marian Harland; The Bartlett Mystery, Louis Tracy; War Workers, by the new English writer Miss Delafield; The Exploits of Bilge & Ma, by Peter McFarlane; Rekindled Fires, Anthony; The Flying Poilu, Marcel Nadud (translated by Frances Wilson Huard, author of My Home in the Field of Honor); Tales of War Time France, a collection of stories by contemporary French writers, illustrating the spirit of the French people at war. Walking Shadows, prose tales by the poet Alfred Noyes; In the Sweet Dry and Dry, by Christopher Morley, a whimsical and exaggerated story based on prohibition and some imagined results, but not the equal in charm and flavor of the two books recently published by the same author—Parnassus on Wheels and The Haunted Bookshop. Aliens, by William McFee, a re-written story as well as re-published, of an earlier story "Aliens" published in London in 1914, of which a few copies found their way over here. Many have undoubtedly been enjoying Mr. McFee's unusual stories, or fictional writing, perhaps it should be called, in the Atlantic Monthly of the current year.

INJURED AT NESTLE PLANT.

Men Engaged in Repair Work Fall from Ladder—One Seriously Hurt.

Frank O'Dell of Sidney was seriously injured and a Mr. Thorpe of Unadilla was quite badly bruised and shaken up, as the result of falling from a ladder at the Nestle Food plant about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The ambulance was summoned and the injured men removed to the hospital.

O'Dell was seriously injured as the result of the fall, sustaining two fractured ribs and a badly fractured wrist, also being badly bruised about the body.

Thorpe received bruises about the body, as well as being badly shaken up as a result of the fall. His condition was not considered serious.

It is understood that both men were working on a ladder at the time, being engaged in some sort of labor about the plant. The exact manner in which they received the fall could not be ascertained by this office yesterday. Both men were still at the hospital last evening.

Entertain Friends at Hallowe'en Party

Miss Gladys Seymour entertained about 20 of her friends at a Hallowe'en party given Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Hotchkiss. The evening was passed in music and games, after which refreshments were served and at a very late hour the guests departed for home.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Says Nothing like plain Argo-Phosphate to put on firm, solid, stay there flesh and muscle and increase strength vim, vigor and nerve force.

Physicians claim there is nothing that will increase weight, strength and endurance like organic phosphate commonly known by druggists as argo-phosphate; it is inexpensive and is sold by all leading druggists everywhere under a guarantee to give satisfaction or money refunded. Weakness and thinness are usually due to starved nervous conditions. Our bodies need more phosphates than are contained in the foods we eat.

If you wish a more rounded figure and plump, well-developed arms, neck, and bust in place of hollows, you should simply take plain argo-phosphate as it builds up and restores run-down nervous conditions by phosphatising the system. It transforms the appearance and an increase in weight is often times quickly produced.

The increase in weight also aids in improving the general health. Sleeplessness, nervousness, lack of energy and ambition quickly disappear.

Pale cheeks are changed to rosy ones and dull eyes become bright.

Miss Lena Brown of Atlanta, Ga, who only weighed 90 pounds reports that she gained 10 pounds in two weeks time and says argo-phosphate has made a different person of her and she has never felt better in her life

SPECIAL NOTICE:—Owing to the fact that so many physicians and druggists are recommending argo-phosphate for relieving all nervous, worn-out debilitated conditions and the unusually large sale for argo-phosphate there will be found in the market numerous substitutes for the genuine article. All imitations are inferior preparations and owing to its unusual flesh producing qualities it should not be used by any one unless they desire to put on flesh and increase in weight.

Buys Dietz Street Residence.

Dr Frank H. Tatlock, the well known dentist, has purchased of Mrs Merretta Brainerd the house and lot at 67 Dietz street. Dr. Tatlock will at once commence some extended improvements, modernizing the house, and when these are completed he will occupy the property as a residence. The location is considered an excellent one and the Doctor is to be congratulated upon his purchase. Pending the repairs and betterments of the house Dr. Tatlock will occupy the Frank M. Gurney residence at 35 East street, to which he has removed from Elm street.

Awarded Carnegie Medal.

At a meeting of the Carnegie Hero Fund commission, held yesterday in Pittsburgh, a bronze medal was awarded to Charles H. Strasser of Norwich, who died attempting to save William G. Kenny, aged two, from drowning at New Berlin on August 19, 1918. Fifty-one acts of heroism were recognized by the commission, in five cases silver medals being awarded and in 46 cases bronze medals.

BRUCELINE
will actually restore your
GRAY HAIR
to its original color—the color it was before it became gray and so gradual that your intimate friends cannot detect the use of anything that produced this result, although they will be impressed with the fact that you are years younger. That's the beauty of using BRUCELINE. Don't neglect your hair—subjecting yourself to adverse criticism makes you seem years older than you really are. You can just as well have luxuriant natural looking hair—hair you can be proud of.
